

Cookie Policy Titan LNG

Current EU legislations requires all website operators to inform their users about their usage of cookies and to collect the user's consent to such cookie usage. Please read this Cookie Policy carefully to find out which cookies we employ and which information we collect in this context.

Cookie Consent

If you visit our websites and your current browser settings accept cookies, and if you continue to use our websites without changing your browser settings, we consider this as your consent in the usage of cookies as described in this Cookie Policy.

What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files which are sent to your device (computer, laptop, smartphone, tablet) by the website you visit. Cookies are stored on your device in your browser's file directory. Your browser sends these cookies back to the website each time you revisit it so it can recognize your device and improve your user experience on each subsequent visit. Cookies allow us e.g. to tailor a website to better match your interests or to store your password so that you do not need to re-enter it every time.

If you do not want us to recognize your device, please configure your internet browser to erase cookies from your device, to block cookies or to issue a warning prior to storing a cookie on your device. Below you can find a short instruction. Please note that certain functions of our website may no longer work or work not correctly without cookies.

If you want to learn more about cookies and how they work, please visit www.allaboutcookies.org or www.youronlinechoices.eu.

Google Analytics

We make use of Google Analytics, a web analytics service provided by Google, Inc ("Google"). Google Analytics uses "cookies", which are text files placed on your computer, to help the website analyse how users use the site. The information generated by the cookie about your use of the website (including your IP address) will generally be transmitted to and stored by Google on servers in the United States. In case of activation of the IP anonymisation, Google will truncate / anonymise the last octet of your IP address for Member States of the European Union as well as for other parties to the Agreement on the European Economic Area. Only in exceptional cases will the full IP address be transmitted to a Google server in the USA, where it will be abbreviated. At the request of the website provider, Google will use this information for the purpose of evaluating your use of the website, compiling reports on website activity for website operators and providing other services relating to website activity and internet usage to the website provider. Your IP address will not be associated with other Google data. You may refuse the use of cookies by selecting the appropriate settings on your browser; however, please note that if you do this, you may not be able to use the full functionality of this website. In addition, you can prevent Google's collection and use of the data (cookies and IP address), as well as the processing of this data by Google, by downloading and installing the browser plug-in available from the following link:
